*8 Things I Learned
Sitting In A Room*
WITH BILLIONAIRES

1) BILLIONAIRES HAVE MASTERED THE ART OF PATIENCE AND ARE IN IT FOR THE LONG GAME

For most people these days, instant gratification is at the forefront of success. The quickest, fastest route is the most sought after and considered to be the ultimate scarcity mindset. When you are after something and need it immediately, you are operating from a place where money will run out and you won't be able to purchase it. Billionaires, and even millionaires, know that wealth is not a short term obstacle. Long lasting, ever evolving wealth is a LONG TERM game. Finding patience as you build wealth will not only steadily grow your financial income, but it will release the stress of "needing" it now. Patience is KEY.

2) BILLIONAIRES FIND OPPORTUNITY WHERE MOST PEOPLE SEE FEAR

Billionaires know that the way to accumulate more wealth is to capitalize on massive opportunity when no one else is taking advantage of it. They look at what everyone else is doing, and do the COMPLETE opposite. Leaning into fear and taking smart risks differentiates a billionaire from a millionaire and the average income population. The word "impossible" does not exist in their vocabulary, and risks are simply opportunities. The only certainty we have here on Earth is change. Be flexible and get excited about change. There's more opportunity in this world than we can imagine, and it's about getting excited over uncertainty rather than hiding from it.

3) BILLIONAIRES DON'T WAIT TO FEEL "READY" BEFORE THEY EXECUTE ON THEIR DREAMS

A billionaire's money mindset is so developed that the thought of "failing" does not affect them the same way it may affect the average person. When they have a goal or dream, they become resourceful and do anything to find the solution. Billionaires are addicted to the process and get excited about new ventures. Details are important, but they do not fixate over them. They improve their work from feedback and continue to move forward. You will never be ready, and there will never be a right time. Think like a billionaire and just go for it.

4) BILLIONAIRES NEVER MAKE DECISIONS FROM A SCARCITY MINDSET

One of the traits billionaires have is being very level-headed about money. They operate from an ABUNDANT mindset and know that no matter how the money fluctuates, it does not affect them. Money can have such a strong effect on people. If someone makes less money one week, they are extremely upset. When they make a lot another week, they are a completely different person. Billionaires stay level-headed about their money no matter what the change is. They don't make decisions about business or investments from a LACK mindset. There is always more around the corner and opportunities are limitless.

5) BILLIONAIRES HAVE A WEALTHY NOW VS. WEALTHY LATER MENTALITY

This is something Brennan and I developed recently, and I realized it is a main characteristic most billionaires share. As your wealth grows, it could be tempting to buy luxury items and spend, spend, spend, but billionaires know better. The money is there, but it is not about being wealthy now, it's about being wealthy LATER. Investing and developing a foundation where your money creates more money WITHOUT actually doing work, is wealthy later. That creates financial freedom and keeps your bank account growing steadily. Instead of spending the abundance of money NOW, invest it and watch it come back TENFOLD in the future.

6) BILLIONAIRES GIVE MORE THAN THEY TAKE

Billionaires want everyone to win. I've noticed that the people who have reached a true level of financial freedom actually work HARDER than they did creating the wealth. Not harder in the sense that they're working longer hours, but they work hard toward what they LOVE, which is giving back. They give to those in need, build foundations, fund charities, and help build what needs to be restored. Money is a form of energy that has the power to save and change the world, and that is something billionaires strongly understand. They spend their time teaching and giving because, as I said before, they know opportunities are ENDLESS for everyone. We live in an abundant and limitless Universe. Opportunities are everywhere.

7) BILLIONAIRES VALUE THEIR ENERGY

Billionaires value their energy because of how much they give on a daily basis. They have a lot of information and resources that other people want, so they take their time to only give energy to things that serve them. They protect their energy with doing things they love, surrounding themselves with quality, like-minded people, and giving back. They restore and relax to regenerate that energy as they continue to work toward larger ventures.

8) BILLIONAIRES DON'T DO IT ALONE

There is not a single billionaire on this planet that has built their wealth alone. Billionaires know the importance of a dream team, and they facilitate a group of people to have the same vision and excitement about their dreams as they do. It takes a team to build an empire, and a team that is just as passionate as you are makes all the difference. Billionaires carefully choose their team and curate an environment for their team that is ever evolving and consistently growing. Without a team, the wealth game is long, stressful, and lonely.
